Term 4 Week 8/ 2019 / Sponsored by Business Results Group

Dates to remember

- School Reports were sent home today. The end of year report is a summary of your child's social, cultural, athletic and academic achievements.

The teachers are now using the New Zealand Curriculum levels to report progress and achievement level for the core curriculum of Reading, Writing and Maths. The rest of the report comments about key competencies and the child's ability to think and grow positive relationships, access information and use this information to grow new knowledge. It is our belief that the Key competencies will continue to grow as a reporting feature for both schools and the Ministry of Education's accountability and performance of schools measures.

As we progress into the 21st century the schools are unpacking the latest addition to our busy lives called "Technology" which was part of the science curriculum but has now become a curriculum in its own right.
